Foreign Direct Investment

- Capital inflows from abroad;
- An investment in the form of controlling ownership in a business in one country by an entity based in another country.
- International investment that reflects long-term relationship and a significant degree of influence by a resident entity in one economy in an enterprise resident in another economy(IMF)

HISTORY OF FDI IN INDIA

- FDI in India can be loosely considered from the time of establishment of East India Company during the colonial era in the 17th century
- After the Second World War, many Japanese companies entered the Indian market and enhanced their trade with India
- After our Independence the policy makers of new India realized the need of foreign investment for development and designed the FDI policies aiming it as a medium for bringing in advanced technologies and gaining valuable foreign exchange resources

HISTORY OF FDI IN INDIA

- The industrial policy of 1965, allowed MNCs to venture through technical collaboration in India.
- The government adopted a liberal attitude by allowing more frequent equity
- With time, economic situations in the country and the outlook of government in power, the attitudes of the policy makers kept changing towards foreign companies investing in India.

In Present Era....

- FDI was introduced in the year 1991 under Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA);
- It started with a baseline of $1 billion in 1990;
- India in 1997 allowed foreign direct investment (FDI) in cash and carry wholesale;
- Then, it required government approval;
- The approval requirement was relaxed, and automatic permission was granted in 2006.

In Present Era....

- FDI is the investment in real market that is the foreign investor works as a controlling ownership. Ex: Bajaj Alliance, HDFC standard), banks (Citibank, Stanchart, Abn Amro, RBS, etc.), pharma companies (Glaxo Smith Kline), soft drinks (Coke and Pepsi), cars (Ford, Hyundai);
- FDI may be in form of Green Field, Merger & Acquisition and brown field.

Green-Field

- When investment made through opening of branches in host country or through making investment in the equity capital of the host country firm.
- Ex. Automatic Route 100% FDI
- Subsidiary: If the parent holds the entire equity of the host country firm, host country firm is called as the subsidiary of the parent (more than 50% is subsidiary and less than 50% is affiliate).

Merger & Acquisition

- When there is outright purchase of a running company abroad, the acquiring company maintains its existence and target company loses its existence.
- When there is amalgamation with a running foreign company, both lose their existence in favour of a new company.
- Example: Satyam Computer & Mahindra Tech.
- M&A may be horizontal, Vertical and conglomerate.

Merger & Acquisition

- Horizontal: when two or more firms engaged in similar line of activities combine.
- Vertical: Firms involved in different stages of production of a single product. Example: Oil exploration and Refinery.
- Conglomerate: when merger involves two or more firms in unrelated activities. Example: financial company managing the financial functions of other companies in the group.

FDI approval routes...

- AUTOMATIC APPROVAL BY RESERVE BANK OF INDIA (RBI) : Automatic approval within period of two weeks (subject to compliance of norms) and foreign equity up to 24%, 51%, 51%, 74% and 100% depending on industry category and sector caps.
- THE FIPB ROUTE (Processing of non-automatic approval cases) : Foreign Investment Promotion Board approves all cases where automatic parameters are not met and the processing time is 4 to 6 weeks.
- CCF ROUTE: Cabinet Committee on Foreign Investment. It includes the sector not notified in the automatic route and the cost of project should be 6000 million or more.

Factors affecting FDI inflow

- A depreciating exchange rate, higher domestic returns, higher domestic output and better infrastructure are conducive to FDI flows to India (Dua & Garg, 2015).
- The ideas and interests of different political groups have affected the institutional changes that have influenced FDI inflows. Competition between provincial states has positively contributed to the growth of FDI inflows since the economic reforms of 1990 (Shan, 2014).
- FDI inflow into India is simultaneously determined by the policy framework, macroeconomic factors as well as economic stability and political factors (Lakshya & Leelavathy, 2012).
- Foreign investment has slowly moved from manufacturing to service sector in India probably because of easy exit conditions as well as leveraging and labour arbitrage (Khan & Banerji, 2011).
- Even though India has been a laggard to the FDI when compared to other East Asian countries, its considerable market potential and a liberalized policy regime has sustained its attraction as a favourable destination for foreign investors. For India, an economy which has tremendous potential, FDI has had a positive impact (Malhotra, 2014).

Implications

- The Trade GDP and Financial Position variables exhibit a positive relationship (pull factors) with FDI, while Exchange rate exhibits a negative relationship (restrictive forces) with FDI inflows in India. (Bajpai, 2016).
- Coastal FDI has a negative impact on the economic growth of inland provinces (Chen, 2019).
- Small retailers are negatively affected by inflows of FDI into retail sector in India, due to high cost than supermarkets (Guruswamy et.al, 2005).
- Evidence on FDI, growth, and poverty is not conclusive. (Sumner, 2005).
- There is a considerable impact of FDI on HDI, population and Senses index (Sultana et.al, 2019).
