(Dr.Rajshree Dutta)

Right to Health

● India is a State Party to the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (“ICESCR”), which “recognises the right of everyone to the enjoyment of the highest attainable standard of physical and mental health”.

- India finds herself in acute health crisis after the lockdown came into force.
- Immunization schedules were cut back on, curbed outpatient and inpatient movement, emergency treatment for serious patients, reduced laboratory experiments as well as less access to mental health treatment.
- The data recovered from various report showed that there was a considerable drop in the delivery of calcium and iron supplements to pregnant women as well as a sharp fall in medical operations concerning the delivery of the child leading to the number of unattended home births shooting up.
- Apart from this, the child immunization hit a rock bottom as at least 1lakh (approx.) children had not received their BCG vaccination which provides protection against Tuberculosis.
- About 2 lakhs (approx.) missed the rotavirus vaccine. National Health Mission data further shows that medical treatment for inpatient, outpatient as well as emergencies dropped drastically for all diseases.
- The Pandemic also halted the lab investigations and HIV screening for several days.

Brief Sketch about Covid-19

- Natural Calamities impair the growth of an economy.
- In 2019, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention started monitoring the outbreak Covid-19.
- Since then, the virus has spread to other countries, both in and outside Asia, leading the World Health Organization to declare this as a pandemic.
- Social distancing and targeted quarantine measures can succeed only if implemented wherever the virus is spreading (Medical News Today, 2020).

Status of Human Rights during Covid-19 Pandemic

- India has currently faced the largest lockdown in the world, with over 1.3 billion people locked inside their homes.
- While Prime Minister Modi adopted this measures to “win the battle” against the Covid-19 pandemic, a large portion of the country is left wondering if their well-being was also accounted for in the hasty decisions of the Government.
- The first case of the COVID-19 pandemic in India was announced on the 30th of January, 2020 stemming from Wuhan, China.
- Isolation and social distancing became the norm, educational institutions, commercial establishments were shut along with many offices, businesses and companies resorting to work from home.

Status of Human Rights during Covid-19 Pandemic

- As the entire world struggles to contain a common enemy, China, India and Turkey have been accused of gross human right violations during the COVID-19 pandemic.
- Protecting human rights amid the global pandemic has become the need of the hour. As the number of COVID-19 cases increases, human right violations seem to have doubled up.
- According to the UN secretary-general, António Guterres, what had started as a public health emergency was quickly turning into a human rights disaster.
- In its report on COVID-19 and human rights, the UN used the expressions like “foreigner’s disease” to describe the virus, saying such remarks can lead to discrimination, xenophobia, racism and attacks.
- The concern is we are all in this together. To effectively combat the pandemic, we all need to be part of the response (The Eurasian Times).

Brief Sketch about Covid-19

- World Health Organisation (WHO) Chief said that the new coronavirus has been declared as a global emergency, as the outbreak continues to spread outside China at a rampant growth.
- Even World War I and II did not affect as many countries as the corona virus has done.
- India imposed a three-week lockdown at midnight on March 24, giving the public not more than a few hours notice and failure to tackle the pandemic during the shutdown period could take the country '21 years back'.
- The need of the hour is 'flattening the curve'.

The Notion of Human Rights

- Human beings are entitled to certain basic and natural rights that define a meaningful existence.
- The reference point of the conception of human rights can be located in the notion of 'natural rights' that was propounded in the 17th century by philosopher John Locke.
- The American war of independence movement of 1776 and the French Revolution of 1789 were inspired by the ideal of natural rights.
- However it was only in the aftermath of the Second World War that the need to acknowledge and safeguard human rights was articulated at the global level in the form of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, 1948.
- Part III of the Indian Constitution contains Fundamental rights which the Supreme Court of India in the case of Golak Nath vs State of Punjab stated to be the modern version of natural rights.
- However the fundamental rights are not absolute in nature and can be subjected to reasonable restrictions.

To Conclude

- Six mantras
- Protecting people's lives is the priority; protecting livelihoods helps us do it.
- The virus does not discriminate; but its impacts do.
- Involve everyone in your response.
- The threat is the virus, not the people.
- No country can beat this alone.
- When we recover, we must be better than we were before.

To Conclude

- India is at a crucial juncture in its fight against Covid-19 as well as uphold the human rights.
- The mantra ‘Jaan hai toh Jahaan hai’ is modified into ‘Jaan bhi Jahaan bhi’ meaning at first priority was given to life rather than livelihood but the need of the hour is to protect both life and livelihood.
- Maintaining social distance and by staying at home and staying safe.
- Then only the phrase mentioned in the Preamble of the Indian Constitution as “We the People of India” will be meaningful and the fight against the pandemic Covid-19 may be championed with a sense of collective responsibility.
