POEMS, ITS SYNOPSIS AND BIO-NOTE OF THE CONCERNED POET

Platonic Love

Love is not something that can be forsaken;
It's sacred and clinically driven
For two souls to enjoy the blissful grace
Of the Almighty in a serene ambience.

Like morning hymn love is subtle,
It can endure Himalayan pressure but cannot brittle!
It's like the language of an infant very soothing, Lovelorn souls resist pitfalls in love making.

Its foundation is strong to counter adulterous pilferage!
There is no question of any types of sacrilege.
It's adorned by selflessness crown,
Love birds save each other from falling down.

Though Platonic Love seems misnomer to some;
The very idea cherishes lofty sense to overcome
Bitterness among two loveable souls ready to plunge
Into ocean of long lasting love to which both belong.

Short note on poetry by the poet:

True love never seeks after gratification of senses. The hallmark of true love is selflessness. Although the rhythm of the poem is prosaic; the spirit is far more poetic to border on the ultimate truth of love. The poem is most appropriately titled....not a misnomer. There is in-depth study of most meaningful facet of life. Fine delineation.

WHEN ARE WE MASKED

When are we masked and having a new normal;
We resolve to make this world beautifully plural.

Plurally do we want to think, to word and to act;
Diversity do we want to keep intact.

Do not we discriminate between fair and dirty;
White and black, light and shadow, unity and diversity.

Between heaven and hell, virtue and vice;
Truth and falsity and I and we?

Strange beauty of this world, with eyes nude, we recognise;
That beauty has singular and plural ideal base;
In plurality, we survive but in singularity, we are left in a mess.

Copyright@Amiya Kumar Rout India.

ABOUT THE POEM:

This is a simple poem. What I feel, this world of us has had a strange beauty. This beauty has both singular and plural base. When does one discriminate between "fair and dirty, white and black ..... "does one become singular and if does not one do that one does become plural. Peculiarity of our very existence is that every relativity does have an ideal base. It means both parts of relativity (say, fair, dirty...) can be adequately justified in both singular and plural ways and respective ideal types can be constructed and construed either for temporary or permanent benefit of society. Another peculiarity is that in every one's thought, word and deed does one want plurality and side by side, does one want to keep diversity intact. The satirical diversity of identities that this humankind does suffer from in the shapes of fair, dirty, white, black, virtue, vice...etc. are mere masks and new normal are set and broken turning into ebbs and tides of time flow fine-tuning stream of human existential consciousness since aeons. However, without doubt, our very survival does rest with a plurality, beautiful and we should pledge to foster and preserve it for eternity.

I'd Some Day Come to You

You know when I don't know.
Ignorance
Is my bliss;
For I strive
Today, everyday.

When I inch forth to You
Breath slows down
Memory goes blank
Visibility returns
To the vacuum.

When the trip will be done
I will be sitting
Right before You
Looking
And listening
And dumb.

KASS FLOWER OF 2020

Who pollinated the anthers?
From its chyme of ecstasy
Blooming and mesmerizing
The world with hope and bliss...

Supremely shining
On the river bed and the meadows
Enticing the universe in pandemic times

A brisk wind sways
With sweet embrace
Moon lit night caresses
The snowy appearance

I get drenched in the harmony/coherence
Of this autumnal earth
My thoughts dissolve
In its subtle fragrance ...

Social distancing
A strong barrier
Lost in nostalgia
Of a meeting ambrosial

Corona will surely pass
On the wings of tomorrow
I cradle a desire, oh! Kass flower
In anticipation total....

A Short Note on Poetry

When the number of Covid 19 cases is on rise, the universe is struggling with pains and fear, social distancing a barrier, everything is restricted due to corona pandemic, the very moment the full bloom of Kassatandi and its aesthetic beauty in the moon lit night when the cool breeze sways, put everyone into hibernation. This is the enchanting beauty of autumn make me an insane to love it and to dissolve in its subtle fragrance. It gives enormous strength for a new beginning, drains away all negative thoughts, pains and fear fills the earth with positive energy. It symbolises hope, love and valour. It has an angelic and healing power. Evoking nostalgia and hope meet you definitely tomorrow in a corona free flowering morning.

River

Always dreamt
To live in a house
On the bank of a river
So that I can see
Fish playing
In river water
Enjoy sun gleaming
On their back Brightening their Silvery colour.
During rainy season
I will invite crocodiles
And they will play games
In muddy river water
When storm will come
Big trees in my backyard
Will sway to the tune of the wind
For the birds I would surely feel sad
As they would have to leave their nests
For far and new vistas.
Then spring will arrive
The smell of death and decay
Will evaporate gradually
Brushing the earth
With a new colour .
The sound of flute
Will be heard
From behind the herd
On the green Pastur
After the flood is over.
The song of Peepal leaves
Will lull me to sleep
Without any work load
Again I will enjoy
The sight of rain drops
Falling on river water.
Rivers have stories of their own
Once a river in spate
In a dark night
Divided for infant Krishna
Carried on his father's head
Allowing them to pass ahead
A river is a mute witness
To the flute song
That enchanted the hearts
Of birds animals and humans
All stood tranced along.
A river can be my friend

Can escort me to the end
I don't wish for salvation
I don't need glorification
Just want to enjoy life
With river forever

A Short Note on Poetry

River is an essential part of human existence. The poem revolves around the relationship between a human being and river. The speaker's journey starts from a dream to live close to a river and the dream encapsulates the changing seasons and panoramic views the river offers. Lulling of senses also comes from the soothing song of Peepal leaves near the river. A river is deeply embedded in our culture and myths such as infant Krishna carried by Basudev to Gopapura and the river Yamuna giving way. The river reflects the meaning of quest for a man by not yearning to meet the sea. In other words the poem challenges the old meaning of life by not seeking salvation just enjoying life with nature. The poem's baseline is in blank verse without any stanza or rhyming pattern. Of course a number of end words share assonance.

About the Poet (Jyotirmayee Mohapatra)

Dr Jyotirmayee Mohapatra, Former Reader and Head, Department of English, Kendrapara (Auto.) College, Kendrapara. She has done Master in English in the 1991 and awarded Doctorate of Philosophy in English in American Literature at Utkal University in the year 1999. Now-a-days, she writes Odia short stories and English poetries for different magazines and books.

Life's Lesson

Before the rain drops touch the earth
Before the monsoon plants its foot
In the wee hours of summer heat
And before it becomes too late
The tiny weeny little ants
Off on their long pursuit
Braving the big challenges
And sensing the small opportunities
To collect and store their living
For the upcoming rainy season

How wonderful they are These little creatures
With the little brains and big talent
They belittle me
And teach
Life's greatest lesson
With their long drawn future plan
And make themselves self sufficient
With their precious time management Against a rainy
Whenever it strikes hard.

A Short Note on Poetry

Life is all about time management. Effective time management will give us strength and determination and inspire us to move up. Planning, implementation and proper follow up will land us on a pursuit we are looking for and our aspirations fulfilled. So plan accordingly and be time bound and think of a brighter future.

About the Poet (Bhabagrahi Malla)

Mr Bhabagrahi Malla is an Engineer and poet. He worked in various capacities and different lines of manufacturing, sales and marketing. Now he is a Director in M/s Jayadurga systems pvt ltd. He loves literature and an avid reader of books such as novels, story books, children books etc. He writes English poetry for various reputed magazines and books.

DRAUPADI

She, a shining shape,
Fiery and glittering,
Rises from the ring of sacred fire
Manifested by Vedic incantation,
A concrete abstraction.

She, a glittering patch of dark cloud,
Moist and looming,
Sensuous and sultry,
Enveloping the sky of their kingdoms.

A desire to possess
This celestial abstraction
By the princely mortals, Drew them to the Battlefield of Kurushetra.

The chest torn apart,
The wheel of arrogance
Submerged under a bloody bog
And the royal thigh broken.

Copyright@Ramakant Das India.

A Short Note on Poetry

Drupada's daughter is described as most beautiful woman in Mahabharata, who is one of the main reasons for Kurushetra war. It's about the humiliation faced in the game of dice and the war was to protect Draupadi's honour. This theme is executed well in Dr RK Das's poem Draupadi. The first stanza describes her birth from the sacred fire. She was not born of a woman. Second stanza describes her heavenly beauty. Third describes her Swayamvar where many kings aspired to get her as their wife. And fourth stanza describes the death of Karna and Dussashan and also the death of Duryodhan who insulted her in the court of Kaurav.

About the Poet (Mr Ramakanta Das)

Mr Ramakanta Das, has done Masters in English Literature from Ravenshaw College, Cuttack, Odisha. Starting his professional career as a lecturer in English, he joined Parliament of India as an officer and became the joint secretary in Rajya Sabha, the Upper house of Indian Parliament., New Delhi. Apart from taking professional interest in the study of the functioning of the parliaments of the world he has also passion for creative writing. He is very passionate about poetry as a form of literature. He is a widely published Indian poet writing in English. He has several seven volumes of English poetry collections to his credit, such as Passionate Musing, Grass Flower, Canvas and Colours, In Retrospect, Anticipation, Hints of a Dream, Audible Undertone, ...And the Rhythm Endures, Mindscape and Marvellous Mirage. Apart from poetry writing he has also written a prose book on the legislative biography of Biju Patnaik, the legendary leader of Odisha. The title of the book is Biju Patnaik: A Legislative Biography. He has also written a book entitled as Parliament of India. He is recipient of Kalinga Literary Award for Literature and Culture. He has received poet Laureate award from World Academy of Arts and Culture, USA.

Agony Flower

I am tired Too tired of running after my shadows.

Memories fill me in the chalice of the night
Life seems a shadowy slap, within the mind
as inscrutable on the depths of an empty well.

I hear the tappings of time on my forehead, and the rattling of memories
Tonight I write my saddest lines the declaration of my departure.

How long can I delay?
for the death of anguish self,
the birth of the dreams
I make, break, renew myself and I repair my falling. rainbow.

I love life with all its darkening clouds
I have never death
with all its kind colours, mid summer-night's aroma
All its brutal kisses.

A Short Note on Poetry

I am drawn to poetry like a child drawn to mother, like rain loves earth and sunrays fall on flowers. My poem 'Agony flower' reveals a self- that is isolated and alienated in this modern world. This poem is a sociological vision of human life. It renews and revitalizes the finest human emotions of an agonised mind. My poem has feminist undertones as I am inspired by the poetry Maya Angelou and the fiction of Alice Walker.

About the Poet (Dr Jyotsnarani Tripathy)

Dr Jyotsnarani Tripathy is the head, Department of English, Marshaghai College, Kendrapara. Recently she has been awarded with Doctorate of Philosophy in English. She is a very good English poet and editor.
